So regular is it in this that it often appears to have been planted in line. At Santubong in Sarawak, I have seen a line of these trees in a sandy spot some distance from the sea which has evidently receded from the trees, and left them some way inland. Except where planted one never sees these trees inland or away from the sea. Yet they grow very well away from the sea especially in dry exposed places and are frequently planted as roadside or shelter belt trees. There are some remarkably fine specimens by the sea at Malacca evidently of considerable age. These plants are readily grown from seed, and grow very fast. Notes on the cultivation of Casuarina equisetifolia, have already been published in the Bulletin...
