THE END AT HOME. He cometh in with vanity, and departeth in darkness, and his name shall be covered with darkness. --Ecclesiastes vi. 4. This mournful story of the vanity of wisdom draws now to a close. Cardan s imprisonment at Bologna had taken place under the pontificate of Pius V., a pope of pure but austere life, who had caused the strenuous enforcement of laws against heresy and blasphemy, and who combined with many noble qualities the character of a most stringent persecutor. He forbade physicians to attend patients who had passed three days without confession of their sins; he expressed disapprobation with his officials in any town that did not yield yearly a large crop of penal sentences. The imprisonment of Jerome at Bologna was a result, I believe, of this activity, and yet it was from Pius V. that Cardan received a pension, and under his wing that he spent his last years safely in Rome as a private person. M. De Thou relates, in the history of his own times¹, that he saw at Rome the great Cardan, walking about the streets, not dressed like any other person, had often wondered at him and had spoken with him. He records at the same time the character he bore: that he was a madman of impious audacity, who had attempted to subject to the stars the Lord of the stars, and cast our Saviour...
